AUTO ROUTE TO THE FAIR WAS CHANGED

In order to expedite matters, and after finding that there were too many horse drawn vehicles using Grand avenue to insure safety to the autos, it was decided early yesterday after a conference with the county supervisors and the city authorities, to route only horse drawn vehicles use that thoroughfare.

Motor vehicles, motorcycles and cropdusters will have to either go to Central avenue or to McDowell and thence west to the fair grounds or out Van Buren to Nineteenth avenue thence north to the fair.

It was thought at first it would be possible to send all vehicles out Grand avenue, but after one look at the stream of traffic on that avenue, Secretary Shattlesworth threw up his hands and went back to the old routing. Police officers will be stationed at the foot of Grand avenue to see that only horse drawn vehicles use that thoroughfare.

ULLMAN ON FURLOUGH—Richard Ullman, a member of the national guard, is here on a furlough. Ullman is the young patriotic high school student who was to be a member of the senior class this year and willingly gave up his school career to serve the cause of his country. He will remain until after the fair.

AMUSEMENTS

LOSS OF LUMBERLANDS IS LATEST FEATURE

Manager Caviness of the Plaza theater announces the first installment of "A Lass of the Lumberlands," a new serial with interred Helen Holmes as the fearless film star. The direction of J. P. McGowan, who produced "Whispering Smith and Medicine Bend" and "The Girl and the Game," two most successful railroad serials that have ever been made, and one of the most thrilling. The story is by E. Alexander Powell, the author of "The Secret of the Submarine," another wonderful serial that was run at the Plaza recently. It is a story of a wonderful battle conducted by a young and pretty girl against the lumber trust. The scenes are all laid in the far north where the timbers get big and the snow drifts high. The scenery has been chosen with peculiar foresight and advantage, and the scenes laid as they are, make a most thrilling chapter picture play. The picture will be shown at the Plaza theater each Tuesday and Wednesday during the entire continuance of the story, and the information in advance seems to indicate that it is easily the most sensational of all the daring pictures participated in by the girl who made "The Hazards of Helen" famous. Four reels of Mutual pictures will be shown on the same bill.

VAUDEVILLE BILL IS FINE OFFERING

The new show coming to the Isis theater for three days with two continuous performances each evening beginning tonight, promises to be a number one in every respect. The big feature offering in the vaudeville part of the new bill is the four old veterans, a quartet of old soldiers in memories of 1861. This big feature attraction was the headline act on the Hippodrome theater in Los Angeles last week and are booked to open for a week's engagement in El Paso on the 19th and in order to break the jump from the Angel City to El Paso the Isis was able to secure this expensive feature.

In addition to the four veterans, Inez Kema, prima donna soprano and musical comedy star, will render solos both classic and popular and being of good voice, will be an added attraction to the excellent program.

The picture program is of high standard and with a warm comfortable house and an all star entertainment.

Starts Today Every Tuesday and Wednesday at the Plaza Theater for the first time—you may see the greatest and most sensational of all motion pictures—a spectacular chapter-play of the Great North Woods—"A Lass of the Lumberlands." This stupendous production is presented by the Signal Film Corporation. It features the fearless film star, Helen Holmes. It has a setting and story absolutely new and unique in motion pictures. It will take you to the virgin Northwest—the land of the great sequoias, cedars and pines. You will see the tremendous forests—the primal life of the logging camps—pictured in all their stupendous majesty. You will be introduced to the thrills and perils of the life in God's own country.

This startling motion picture production is in fifteen chapters. A new chapter will be presented each week. "A Lass of the Lumberlands" is a story of profound heart-interest—a story which relates the struggles of a lone girl, fighting single-handed against that gigantic octopus—the Lumber Trust. It depicts in vivid scenes the dramatic episodes of every-day life in the Great Northwest. It portrays the dangers that confront the heroine, Helen Holmes. It reveals thrills such as you have never seen before. Love and adventure, plots and counterplots, are sketched for you as they are seen on Life's canvas in the Great Outdoors.

ment, the Isis should be well patronized by fair visitors and home folks as well.

NORMA TALMADGE AT ARIZONA TODAY

Norma Talmadge, who is the star of "The Social Secretary," the Triangle Fire Arts release to be shown at the Arizona theater today, made her theatrical debut before an audience which paid one cent each to tickets.

This, Miss Talmadge says, occurred quite a number of years ago, when she was attending primary school in the place of her birth, Jersey City. At a very early age she developed a desire to act and these initial performances were given in the cellar of her home, with shawls for stage gowns. Her mother always occupied a seat on a rickety chair in the front row, and a school chum sold tickets.

Completing her education at Erasmus Hall high school in New York, Miss Talmadge soon afterward sought a chance to work in the moving pictures. She was not long in getting an opportunity to play a small part, and her advancement has been rapid. Like many of the big stars of the film world, she has never appeared on the speaking stage, but has developed her talent solely in screen work.

Elks
"American Girl" an international comedy-drama was the offering at the Elks last night and to say it made good, is putting it mildly. It is a screening success from start to finish and the laughter that emanated from the theater last night could be heard by the travelers on the street.

This is the fifth week of the Lorch company and it seems that they have been saving one of their best dishes for their out of town patrons.

There is about everything that one would want for an evening's entertainment and the fair visitors are particularly fortunate in having so clever a company as the Lorch company here this week.

"The American Girl" has the punch back of it that goes over and makes the eagle scream. It will be repeated every night this week with the usual matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Kolb and Dill in Comedy at Lion
A double feature bill will be seen at the Lion today which includes the famous comedians, Kolb and Dill in a five act comedy called "The Three Pals" and "Alaska Jack" who will give a lecture on Alaska, illustrated by moving pictures of the snow country, its people and habits. "Alaska Jack" appears in the fur clothing as worn in Alaska and his lecture is well worth having. This feature in addition to the comedy "Three Pals" will be on at the Lion for today only, as tomorrow the Lion will present one of the strongest pictures of the week, when J. Warren Kerrigan will be seen in "The Beckoning Trail" which is red blooded and contains some marvellous fight scenes.

With "The Beckoning Trail" will be seen the famous monkeys, "Sally and Napoleon" in a funny comedy. Friday, Anita Stewart will be at the Lion in "The Combat" and also "Hans and Fritz" in "The Katzenjammers."

Popular Performer at the Lamara
At the Lamara tonight the famous Theda Bara will continue her marvellous presentation of "Romeo and Juliet." This William Fox production is one of the most ambitious that has ever been played on the movie stage and it constitutes a faithful representation of the greatest of all the Shakespearean tragedies.

Miss Bara is supported by a strong company and the presentation is dignified and worthy of the great theme. Lovers of the master poet of the English speaking races and all lovers of good acting will do well not to overlook this unusual offering. The picture is in seven reels and every tiny detail of the original play is shown. With the chief attraction will be shown the Hearst International cartoon and fashion service.

Musical Show at Columbia
Much singing, some dancing, and a plot to the clever little musical show at the Columbia offering, proved a fine magnet again last night, and the handsomest house in all Arizona was packed to see "The Girl Who Dared." It is a story of a girl who dares much and takes many chances, but comes out like a true daughter of the country that knows no failure. The Lewis and La Valle Company is a well balanced aggregation of singers, dancers and musical comedy performers. The bill tonight will please the most discriminating and the singing of the La Valle is worth the price alone. The comedy pictures are the sort that one expects with a musical show, full of slap stick, dash and action.
